

National Postal Forum presents INTELLIGENT MAIL® University

Columbus, OH

National Postal Forum Intelligent Mail® University

Please join us for a comprehensive day of Intelligent Mail education.

- Learn about the Postal Service's newly implemented Intelligent Mail Service for letters and flats.
- Gain a thorough understanding of what you need to do to ensure your organization is ready to make the most of the Intelligent Mail barcodes and Intelligent Mail Full Service Option.
- Hear how Intelligent Mail barcodes drive improvements in both service and efficiency and add more value to your mail.

The symposiums will provide you with a unique opportunity to hear from the experts, learn about the requirements and get answers to some of your questions such as:

- What are the requirements for using Intelligent Mail barcodes?
- How can I implement the Intelligent Mail barcode in my operation?
- Will I need to invest in new equipment or modify my operational processes?
- Where can I find help in transitioning to this new technology?

Featuring expert Intelligent Mail speakers provided by the United States Postal Service®.

A full day of Intelligent Mail information will be presented from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

SAVE THE DATE

INTELLIGENT MAIL University Locations

Tuesday,
October 6th
8am – 5pm

The Aladdin Shrine Center
3850 Stelzer Road
Columbus, OH 43219-3044

Registration Closes Thursday, October 1st

Your $79.00 registration fee includes:

- Full Day Program
- Continental Breakfast
- Lunch

ALL INTELLIGENT MAIL University attendees must be preregistered.

To register, visit www.npf.org/IMb or call 703-218-5015 for more information.

At the University you will be issued a coupon for a $79 credit toward your 2010 National Postal Forum registration fee. In effect if you attend the National Postal Forum, April 11-14, 2010 in Nashville, TN, your Intelligent Mail University is FREE!!